This is not an outline - this contains Questions and Answers (and explanations) ONLY. I purchased this along with "Civil Procedure MBE Practice Questions" (AmeriBar.) Neither of these two have an outline. They are just questions and answers. The 124 "MBE's" in this book seem way too hard for MBE's. Keep in mind that we haven't yet seen real MBE's (as of Jan 2015) other than the ten questions released by NCBE, but compared to the MBE's I've seen in other subjects these questions are way harder than real MBE's. They often siting specific (and obscure) code numbers, which is likely not the way the MBE will be. I got about 60% of the questions correct. This book will help you learn the rules (although maybe a little too much in detail) as you work through your wrong answers but I don't think it is representative of what you will see on the Bar Exam. Conversely, AmeriBar's "Civil Procedure MBE Practice Questions" has 264 "MBE's" but they seem way too easy. I'm testing somewhere in the 85% and CivPro is one of my weakest subjects. That book is more like practicing with flash cards. It's basically testing your understanding of simple rules but not necessarily how they would be applied in full blown MBE questions, which are more in depth than just rule statements. NOTE**

I just completed the 50 questions from Wolters Kluwer's "MBE Civil Procedure Questions" and feel they are as close to what a real MBE looks like as any CivPro MBE's I've seen. It is well worth the money. That book is not currently available on but can be purchased for $30 through Aspen Law's website.
